

The Greatest Threats Facing Humanity

Newcastle upon Tyne, November 29, 2015 Part 1 of 2

We all know what the New World Order is but we don't always know what the agenda is. Some well-written articles on the NWO are either disinformation or very inaccurate. Since 1776 the NWO's agenda has been public. Prior to that it was very covert. Agenda items for this cabalistic group include depopulation, Agenda 21, and the one-world government. The head of the one-world government would be the Queen or a Rothschild, and the figurehead would be the Pope. We should all ask: "Why would the Pope (who doesn't speak for the Muslims or the Jews or the Hindus and only speaks for one part of the Christian faith) be going not to the United Nations but to the government center of America and making it a world speech? Ever since the 1950s there have been rumors that the satanic elites wished to kill off anything from 50% to 75% of the population. With increasing technology that's no longer their immediate agenda right now. In the 1947 Roswell crash two vehicles were hit by some form of energy, but they actually were designed to crash. What happened was that advanced technology we should never have had at that point passed into the hands of the Americans. That's where fiber optic cables, microchips, night-vision equipment, lasers and the transistor came from. Now that we've achieved everything that artificial intelligence wanted us to achieve we became "useless eaters." You've made the machinery we want, we have the devices we want, we don't need you anymore. Fracking is also a key agenda of the NWO. It is through Earth's underground streams of water that coded information is carried. The planet communicates with itself through these streams. The nasty, evil, elite people know this and the whole purpose of fracking is to disrupt the planet's communication by pouring millions of gallons of poisoned toxic waste into that water supply. Their intent is to disrupt the connection between humanity and the planet. Thank goodness the planet has not forgotten that a covenant exists between the planet and humanity from a time when humans were far more spiritual and actually honored the planet. It's really important that we maintain that connection. Artificial intelligence is like a big game of chess, but like any computer AI has one failing, which is it can't anticipate humans' change. What their elite have been doing is trying to build predictive computers that can learn from our decisions. Chemtrails have been reduced by about 50% across the country. Around that time chemtrailing began being crisscrossed like a lattice beyond normal lines in the sky. We have a really useful photo of an alien spacecraft appearing into the lattice to try to deactivate some of it. What's being sprayed are tiny particles of aluminum to stay in earth's atmosphere so that whenever a "non-reptilian" spacecraft appears it sets out a resonance frequency that radar will detect. A few years ago they realized they could put out tiny little nano robots which we would all inhale but would not kill us unless activated. The nano chips are designed to take over your mind and body when activated. Now it's possible to control everyone on the planet through chipping. Transhumanism is an agenda from the same crazy people who are following orders from their discarnate master to control people. The best way to control people is to change you so that you lose your humanity. Once we become part machine and part human we will make a choice whether to remain human or become fully machine. Between 2015 and 2020 they are going to try to create a remotely controlled robotic copy of a perfect physical body, but made out of non-organic material. That's the easy part of the plan. Between 2020 and 2025 they want an avatar with a human brain transplanted at the end of one's life. A rich person who wants to live forever actually donates their brain to see if it will work inside a non-organic body. Between 2030 and 2035 that human brain is replaced with an artificial brain in which a human personality is transferred at the end of life. Finally in 2040 to 2045 there is a hologram as in the movie Avatar, with nothing physical. AI wants to take us from a physical position to something that is holographic just like it. We're not looking at a standalone piece of technology but a very invasive plan trying to sell a diabolical idea. Those who are in the Illuminati and those in the Cabal are very clear that they want to see this dream they have been promised progress.

Connecting Consciousness Host: Hello everyone, apologies for the bit late start... a lot of new ... very very big thank you... I know this is

Simon Parkes: Thank you very much. Yes I'm aware a number of us had some real difficulties getting here today: one way system, Christmas shoppers, divergent routes, no parking... I think if you live here you know where to park and if you, like me, and you just come here to do the shopping from time to time it is quite difficult, on the latest day a lovely place. Alright, first of all "thank you" the organizer for inviting me I'm very happy to be here. Thank you to everybody who had that sterling effort to get here. I will always do a talk if the audience are the "awake" sort of peoples that we need and I don't really turn down talks unless there's something that's not right about it. Alright, so... before I start I want to say that I've been in the public eye for a number of years and you can't really do what I do without taking some form of damage, some sort of hurt, so I'm gonna be taking probably 3 months off away from the public eyes to just see how I am and get ready for the next big battle and I think a couple of thanks are probably around... Thanks to everyone at Connecting Consciousness who are working so hard, all the organizer and all the ordinary members, it's really important that we keep that going and a big thank you Rebecca who's been so supportive and helpful over the last few years, a very big thank you to her. Right, now... as it is nearly Christmas I thought that what we will do we'll have a talk that "looks to the future", "what the positive points will be" and some of the "more challenging" points. But I thought we'd also had a look to "why we got to this point" and... numbers of speakers talk about some very interesting subjects but maybe happened 10-15-20-30 years ago and in its own place that's very important, but what we all need is up to date information, information that's occurring while we are speaking, while we are thinking "what's gonna be happening now? Next week, next month, etcetera. But that's now to say that we can't learn from the past and it all to understand "what's happen?" and "what is unfolding?" We need to get a grasp to on what brought us to this point, because even researchers in the ufology or the industry fail to grasp some of the most important links that brought us to this point, and you can learn the future from the past. Right... I'm not on the Wi-Fi today I'm all wired up at this digital cabling so I'm got to be carefully to not trip over and got someone press the button for me cause I not remote... not yet... but what's good about that is I got a couple of slides and we gonna talk about Wi-Fi and the danger of Wi-Fi. Not Wi-Fi in itself but what can be tagged along the Wi-Fi, so that's quite helpful. Alright, could we start then? Thank you.

So the first point I put up was "the greatest danger to humanity" and I'm asking the question: what are they?

So can you just put your hands up and tell me what you believe it's the greatest danger facing humanity:

- Human;
- Chips(chip in the hand);
- Ignorance;

- Vaccines;
- Fear;
- Chem trails;
- Money system;
- Ego, [indistinguishable]
- Satanism;

It's very telling when I address a group of awakened spiritual peoples as you all are that you are able to say that humanity has some numbers of traits which either can be used against itself or just naturally do that. The elements the other had raised are only possible or could only be possible if humanity allows that, so must better to remind. So thank you for identifying some of the key points. Please, next one.

We all know what the N.W.O. is but we don't always know what the agenda is. When we go on the websites we see lots and lots of articles about the N.W.O. and the same things been rehashed. There are some very well written items but generally speaking they are either disinformation or very inaccurate.

Remember that the N.W.O. is not our order, it's not what we want, it's what a group of "idealistic" peoples, in their own way, what they believe is the right way forward. Ever since 1776 it's been publicly put forward, prior to that it was very covert. So we're looking at an agenda... who could tell me some of the agenda items for this cabalistic group?

- Depopulation;
- Agenda 21;

So, we've got depopulation and agenda 21, some two good points. What else might the N.W.O. want from us?

- One World Government;

Yes, and who would be head of that one world government?

2015-11-29_newcastle_zof2

Anybody know?

- The queen or the Rothschild;

... the figurehead. Who might be the figurehead for the N.W.O.?

- Pope

Fantastic. I haven't got any presents today. Those of you who see me know I generally giving them out, but had I had a present you would have got one.

The problem we have is that religion is deeply rooted and religion in itself is not wrong it is the way it's controlled and organized by man. Yes, man. And that means that it needs a figure head and you know of course that the Pope is recently been to America, been to what they call a 'law makers building' giving a speech and we should all ask: "Why would the Pope (who doesn't speak for the Muslims or the Jews or the Hindus and only speaks for one part of the Christian faith) Why would he be going not to the United Nations but to the government center of America and making it a world speech?"

So, we need to understand that the Pope is designed to play a very important part in the New World Order, but that isn't the subject that perhaps would really interest us at the moment.

"Can we have the next one please?" [slide: Kill us off? Or control us?]

Right we talked about that .... On the first table. Ever since the 1950's there are been rumors that the satanic elites wished to kill off anything from 50% to 75% of the population. And "why is that?" Well one of the point here is that "they love the planet" don't get this wrong, these people love rainbow, they love the forest, just as you do... they love to see the animals running free. But they don't like to see anybody else enjoying it. So, they want the planet for themselves without having the bother about anybody else. Just their friends. Until technology really will ... the last eight nine years. The only way that these people saw a future would be to remove the majority of the population. Now with the increasing technology I have to tell you that that's no longer the immediate agenda right now.

Let's go back a little bit.

As this talk develops to you're going to understand what the greatest threat facing me, you, and every other living creature on this planet who is not part of this psychopathic group. And we talk about artificial intelligence. The main thing that people hook on is Reptilians. If you talk about Reptilians you get reams and reams and reams of text on the subject. When we talk about A.I. then people begin to look around and get confused.

Let's go right back to the days of the industrial revolution. Let us imagine an incarnate force, so this is a force that is an intellect and cannot take shape but its role or its wish is to dominate every living creature on the planet, but it can't manifest itself physically. The only way it can is to be drawn into the human bodies if the human bodies want that to happen. So, what you have to do is you have to artificially speed up the technology on the planet. So, with the industrial revolution, which was not a normal process, what the western world developed was the hardware smelting processes, the ability to produce power from wind or from water, the forgings of metal, the rise of the corporations through the very rich and wealthy individuals who could then bring groups of people together not quite as slaves but in a way that they were tied to that factory or tied to that work. And all over the western world these people were working producing some advance technology for the time. So, from about the 1700's onwards we saw some very big advances.

Come 1947 those advances had really got as far as they could, the hardware was actually present but what was not present was any of the software or the ability to take it to the next stage. Now there's many people that talk about Roswell and many people who have their own views on it, and remember it's just my view you know I'm not here to argue with other people's views, I just put my view across, and I do believe that the 1947 crash was two vehicles and they were deliberately crashed. Yes, they were hit by some form of energy but they were designed to crash. Because what happened was that advance technology that we should never have had at that point passed into the hand of the Americans, and you know from your own research that this is where fiber optic cables have come from, where the microchips have come from, where the night-vision equipment has come from, where the lasers have come from. And if we're in any doubt about that you only have to look at the guy called Shockley who was officially credited with inventing the transistor and if you know your history, Roswell was in the summer of '47 some six months later who would invent the transistor: Bell Labs. So, we look for the invention of the laser beam, same link there. The only thing that the Americans realized was that they couldn't make it a obvious paper trail. They learned their lesson. Because if you look at Bell Labs and you try to look at their, at their past history developing it's very poor. So, what they do now is they ensure that their multinational has a track record in a particular subject before they'll give it that technology.

So, we've got very advanced chips, the software to run them and the ability to smelt and make rare metals. So, we've achieved everything that this artificial intelligence wanted us to achieve... the term "useless eaters". In other words you've made the machinery we want, we have the devices we want, we don't need you anymore.

So, until the last 7-8-9 years that was the policy. Now it's possible to control everyone on the planet through chipping.

[Slide: Fracking]

Ok. One of the issues that nobody brought up, because we don't necessarily see it as part of this agenda, and that's fracking. I know that in its own right we know the fracking is bad but we don't link it to the agenda of the New World Order. I can absolutely assure you that fracking is a key agenda of the New World Order.

We are all mammals. We have a blood supply in our body. This Earth has its own supply of underground streams of water. And it's through the underground streams of water that coded information is carried. Yes, I know there are Ley Lines and that's a different sort of energy but there are underground streams in every land mass where the planet communicates with itself through these streams. Now these nasty, evil, elite people know this and the whole purpose of fracking is to pour millions of gallons of poisoned toxic waste into that water supply to disrupt the planet's communication. Because if they can disrupt the planet's communication then they can disrupt the connection between humanity and the planet. What's not possibly understood, is that there is a covenant that exists between the planet and us, and thank goodness the planet hasn't forgotten that many many many years ago, the human races across the land masses actually honored the planet, so people were far more spiritual, with the running water, with the valleys, the stone rocks and were not about to harm the planet. So that hasn't been forgotten and it's really important that we maintain that connection.

So please understand that fracking, yes as a secondary by product, will produce gas and I'm sure that one of the main points about running down power stations in this country was deliberately to force this argument that we need fracking. This year we will be between 2.5 and 3% short of the power we need at winter, so literally if we get a bad winter, which is predicted because it's El Nino year, we are 3% below the necessary. Next year it'll be 5% and the year after 7%, because what the government's done is it's closed the power stations and made no provision and then the argument will be "that's why we need fracking", so this is all part of their plan.

So please remember that fracking is not just an outrage, it's actually an outrage against humanity.

[Slide: photo showing someone lighting tap water on fire]

This is not a trick photography. This is an ordinary tap in an American household and that's the water supply and because of the methane gas used in fracking it actually permeated the water supply and here you can actually set light to your drinking water. So, when people tell you that "fracking is OK" except when the well is a little bit dodgy, it's not true, and I'm sure that the people who lived in that particular town obviously just drank bottled water for the rest of their lives. So is methane gases used along with the oil, and they are not supposed to but they do, and a whole range of chemicals.

About 2 years ago I was asked how "the best way to combat the fracking with the public, how to try to get the public on side" and I actually said "look it's a middle class people, you've just got to say the house prices will be halved, because that's what people seem to be bothered about" and it's true that if you live near a fracking well and you own your property the price will drop. But of course what we've seen is the government produce legislation that allows an oil company to drill under your house without your permission.

[Slide: A. I.]

Right, A.I., Artificial Intelligence. It's like a big game of chess, but like any computer A.I. has one failing which is it can't anticipate humans change. For instance on Monday morning you may say "oh My... I'm thinking I'm going to go to the shops. Then Monday afternoon... no I don't think I will, then Monday evening... oh! I think I will". It's very hard for A. I. to predict that. So, what their elite have been doing is trying to build computers that can learn from our decisions. In other words a predictive computer, that's what we're going to talk about in a little bit.

[Slide: Chem Trail Nano Tech]

Who mentioned "Chem Trails"?

I know many many of us know about Chem Trails, and they have reduced, there are probably 50% reduction across the country at the moment. An elite group it's always 12 isn't it? An elite group of half human and half something else who control the black budgets from the western world. Each of these individuals have different names like guardians or parents or grand-parents. They actually authorize and sign off each year or each 6 months, the coming period and the particular individual who is in charge of the Chem Trailing is no longer in that position. About 6 weeks before this person left, if you were really observant you would have noticed that Chem Trailing was being crisscrossed so not just the normal lines in the sky but like a ...a lattice and you know we have got really really useful photograph of an alien spacecraft actually appearing into the lattice to actually try and deactivate some of it. So Chem Trailing will be reduced but not stopped.

So let's talk about Chem Trailing. You need to understand that many of the pilots in these commercial airlines have no idea ok? Some of them do, but you know, they have a really good job, they want to pension so they not gonna saying anything because they don't fully understand what's going on. But the vast majority don't. So what's being sprayed?

Well they've sprayed bacteria and viruses, and they try different sorts of gel to keep those creatures alive. They've actually sprayed tiny tiny tiny particles, not quite Nano but really tiny particles of aluminum, aluminum to stay in the earth's atmosphere so that whenever a "non-reptilian" spacecraft appears, it sets out a resonance frequencies which radar will detect. If you have a spacecraft coming from another dimension, when it pops into our reality it creates a disturbance, and just as in 1944 the Americans and the British used operation window, when they dropped reels of tinfoil out of a Lancaster bomber to confuse German radar, this is exactly same principle but far more advanced.

So that was one part of it and then a few years ago they realized that they have the ability to put Nano robots, tiny tiny little robots out, which we would all inhale but wouldn't kill us unless activated.

Right. Nano robots are small devices that can use either an internal power cell or they can actually use the natural electric in your body, static or whatever the electric current we have, to keep themselves powered up for a period of time, and these particular ones do jobs, they look pretty fearsome with arms and legs but that's one aspect. These things either build or can make you quite ill. The other aspect to those that will join together to form something like a super computer. So when we've been breathing in these particles we have been breathing in things like this. Now on their own they're not going to do anything because they have not been activated.

This one shows how it connects to a cell and has a little cable coming from it. This is all absolutely microscopic, they are programmed so that when you breath them in they will go to a particular organ, or they'll travel around your bloodstream, and when they'll find "Fred" then they'll connect with "Fred", they know "Fred" from "George" and they build up over a period of time devices.

This is really important because it demonstrate how a circuit board in a Nano can be built. Each group is separate, meets its friend, and connects. And this is how you can just going on building and building and building. Now they have done this, and they have done this on wide scale. These super computers that the Americans have are small portable computers all linked together. Sometimes when Jodrell Bank in Britain was doing some projects they asked you not to switch your computer off the night and they would access it, and lots of well-meaning people said "Oh yeah... we'll do that because they said the processing power of all these PC's all over the country will allow us to have all this extra computing power". And people unwittingly did that. Of course they produced this super computer. But here we're talking about on a wide scale very large built devices capable of predictive thinking and on "this" is the Nano side, because it is no good you've been filled full of this small little robots or chips unless there's something to control it. The chips that you are used to are RFID chips, those are not what we are talking about. An RFID chip is a chip that identifies you to a computer. The chips we are talking about here are chips design to take over your mind, take over your body. That's where they've gone in the last 6-7 years.

[Slide: Chipping]

So we know the RFID chips, these are the chips that were used, believe it or not, by the Spitfire pilots from the second world war. We called them today transponders in airplanes, so it sends out "this is who I am and your friend or foe". The process that they were thinking about 10-15-20 years ago was literally to have readers on the streets or at the shop and as you walked past they would scan you and say "that's number 52.628.### Fred". So that's one way of doing it. The other way is to say "well you don't need a bank card anymore so we're going to put a chip in your hand and you could have all your bank account details on your hand, and through that they will then control your money supply". So If you went on a demonstration, and a friend, a member of my family recently went on a demonstration and lost her job because she was targeted, without a chip, they just did that with cameras, but the chipping allows them to control everybody like that.

Well that give you an idea of the size required. So we are looking at about 1 inch, this is the sort of chip that you would have to have as it stands to control everything else that you might have in your body. Now how on earth would you have that? Why would you have that?

So this is not what we are thinking. When we are thinking chips we thinking the traditional grain of rice but this is the controlling chip.

Thankfully some peoples are aware although is very muted because 2-3-4-5 years ago the Americans run a very expensive advertising campaign on cable television where actors were telling the public just how good it was to be chipped and the usual point was "well I can open the garage doors without leaving my house, I can turn the heating off when I'm at work, I can do this, that, and the other." But we've seen some very nasty nasty actions since the pope made the New World Order speech last month in America, you'll know I'm sure that in Australia from January of next year if you wished to claim unemployment benefit you will have to be vaccinated, if you wish to claim old age pension you will have to be vaccinated and all children born babies are to be vaccinated from January of next year.

Now this appears on a document at the very highest level in America and yet as always they let the Australians trial it first. Interesting in Norway in the main city of Oslo they are bringing out a forced policy of inoculating all children and so a number of parents are literally moving out of that city. So it's been trialed and once they see how it works there then they're going to try and push it into America and Britain, and you know parents don't want their children chipped. I have no problem with a cat or a dog being chipped, but you know that's plays a role if that animal is lost and recovered. The chipping in you is not designed for that and one of the adverts that I had this privilege of watching was an actor saying "well if a terrorist attacks the school and my children get lost then the police can scan all the children and they find then I can have my children return to me". You have to be an actor to say that wouldn't you?

Right, here is the cutting-edge chip. You know the one that we saw where we're being flexible with, they can't go ahead and put that in you. They can put that in you. So that is a real photograph. It is not a trick. That is the controlling chip because the Nano chips that are pushed out in Chem Trails are far smaller than that. That is your controlling chip.

The other possibility was our skin graft where it was actually flexible like that. That's one of the reasons that tattoos over the last 5 to 7 years have been pushed and why they have such demonic shapes. Some of the styles we see on a lot of the science fiction television programs are been copied through into tattoo marks and peoples don't realize it, they just think they look pretty exciting and really good. The whole object is another arm to see whether we can go down this road as they will say and put these chips on. But these can be removed after a point if you suddenly realize what's going on than you can actually get rid of that.

[Slide: Transhumanism]

Does anybody know what Trans Humanization is?

Audience member: ...is basically heading towards the Singularity, so basically wiring everybody up so you are a controlled unit within a supercomputer. And that we're ultimately controlled by that. ...

Thank you, that was really good, I'm just going to paraphrase that a little bit. Trans Humanism is an Agenda from the same crazy people that we've been talking about who are following orders from their disincarnate master to control people, and the best way to control people isn't to point a gun at them, it isn't to pass a law through parliament, is actually to start to change you so that you lose your humanity. That's the whole point about this because this Artificial Intelligence isn't flesh and blood, it's not organic, it doesn't understand us but it does understand that it can sell an idea which appears to be benevolent and that once we become part machine and part human then we will make a choice as to whether we wish to remain human or become fully machine and through many science fiction films and through many very far-seeing writers this topic has come up. So we're going to talk about Trans Humanism because it's a term you are going to meet very much in the next coming 12 months.

[Slide: h+]

Do you know what that sign is?

There was a article in my local paper where the police and crime commissioner was saying that she was very distressed that half of the population of the town I live in didn't know what the non-emergency number for the police was. And in the same way most people haven't a clue what this is. It's about being hidden in plain sight and then go in live with it. This is the symbol that you will see if they get their way. This is the symbol for Trans Humanism. This is the sign that we'll start seeing going up in hospitals and private places.

[Slide: 2045 Avatar Project Milestones]

This is very interesting because in a number of projects about to try to move us from this biological body, which I think is a Divine body, but clearly isn't the sort of body that this Artificially Intelligence wants. [ ]

I know the screen's small, so I quickly just read it out.

Avatar A (and don't be mistaken with the word avatar because someone was trying to tell you something with the film)

Between 2015 and 2020 there's a robotic copy of the human body remotely controlled. So in other words they're going to try to create a perfect physical body, but made out of non-organic material, that's the easy part.

These are their plans remember.

Between 2020 and 2025 they want an avatar with a human brain transplanted at the end of one's life. So in other words the rich person's dream, I want to live forever, so they actually donate their brain and that brain to see if it will work inside a non-organic body.

Between 2030 and 2035 replaced that human brain with an artificial brain in which a human personality is transferred at the end of one's life. So you now have the hope of your personality living forever in a non-organic way.

And then finally the 2040 to 2045, a hologram like Avatar. In other words there's nothing physical.

So do you see? Is exactly what the AI is? It's not physical, and it wants to take us from a physical blood and bones and sinew position to something that's holographic just like it. And this is the way it wants to do it. It wants to do it by tricking people and saying to them "Oh dear you lost your arm in an accident, we'll give you a bionic arm." Remember the Bionic Man? Those of you remember the 70's?

On that side it looks brilliant but we're not looking at a stand alone piece of technology, we're looking at a very very invasive plan to trying to sell an idea which is the devil frankly.

What film is that from?

Metropolis.

Very early film before 1933, it's a silent film and that is exactly what you're looking at. You're looking at Trans Humanism and I didn't show this picture. I shows this picture, not the next one. I didn't use that, but it actually shows a magical pentagon, pentagram, behind the robot.

So those who are in the Illuminati and those who are in the Cabal are very clear that they want to see this progress. But when the technology wasn't there they just need to dream, a dream they've been promised. That was a promise but didn't have the technology. No Roswell at that point,

My own mother, this is one of her favorite film actually.
